

Fortizel® Improves the Body to Function at Peak Performance

Most of us could benefit from more energy and a healthier body. We seek to be more active and feel better. Similar to a machine, our bodies require some kind of fuel to speed up the processes and perform at optimum level. Fortizel® is that fuel. It helps the human body's metabolism become stronger and get optimum performance from the cells in our body.

How Does Fortizel® Help the Human Body Work at Its Best?

Augmentsodine® Colostrum Extract, the key ingredient in Fortizel®, increases the body's performance. For better understanding, we must discuss the function of GH (Growth Hormones) in our body's cells.

GH is secreted by the pituitary gland. It is a very important hormone designed to stimulate cell reproduction and regeneration. GH is produced in the liver in the form IgF-1 (Insulin like Growth Factor-1). Free IgF-1 stimulates Tyrosine Kinase and Integrine.

Tyrosine Kinase functions as an "on" or "off" switch for cellular functions. These protein kinases serve as a communication signal within cells, regulating activity such as cell division. Sometimes, through mutation, our cells can get stuck in the "on" or "off" position, causing unregulated growth.

When Tyrosine Kinase receptors are stimulated through Free IgF-1 activation, healthy cell division is possible and triggers the intra cellular immune system.

The Problem

Problems start with increased levels of stress. Stress results in less production of GH, thereby decreasing the production of IgF-1 in the liver. This ultimately results in diminished production of energy and a weaker immune system; opening the door for numerous foreign is the starting point of all problems.

How Does Fortizel® Help

Fortizel® assists when the effects of stress start wreaking havoc on your body. Fortizel® increases GH production in the pituitary gland. GH then increases the free IgF-1 production in the liver.

As Tyrosine Kinase receptors are stimulated, our bodies burn more fat and carbon hydrates, releasing more energy. Additionally, stimulation of Integrine receptors leads to a stronger immune system.

Fortizel® is an optimizer of cell function within the body as it increases the levels of free IgF-1. It helps the body build stamina, boost immune function and self-repair. It's you at your best.
