

Is Fortizel® from The Fountain of Youth?

Fortizel® is made up of more than 80 known bio-active substances. There are immunoglobulins, also called antibodies that fight off disease, infection and other foreign invaders. Fortizel® contains lactoferrin which prevents bacteria from reproducing as well as lysozyme, an innate part of the immune system. Alpha-lactalbumin, the primary protein in human milk, is a building block of glutathione, a powerful antioxidant in the body that plays a key role in immune health.

Fortizel® also contains proline-rich peptides (PRPs) which balance the immune system and have a strong anti-inflammatory effect.

Glycoproteins, a protein with sugar attached to them, have diverse functions such as in our immune system, protection of our body, communication between cells, and our reproductive systems. Fortizel® also contains endorphins that counteract depression.

There are various forms of L-carnitine, taurine and the co-enzyme Q 10 which act as natural energy providers.

In addition, Fortizel® contains telomerase, the anti-aging enzyme. Telomerase is responsible for continuous and rapid cell division. Formation of tumours and the origination of cancer are directly related to slow cell division.

Fortizel® contains several growth factors, such as IGF-1 which accelerates the conversion of body fat into energy. Fortizel® also contains EGF, a Growth Factor responsible for skin regeneration, as well as TGF- α or TGF- β . These are proteins, members of the EGF family that help repair and develop skin.

Fortizel® helps the body look and feel younger. Not only is it paramount in building a healthy immune system, it does wonders for the look and feel of your skin. By prohibiting bacteria growth, reducing redness and inflammation and repairing damaged skin, Fortizel® is the leader in anti-aging supplements.

Fortizel® is also the only product available that offers Augmensodine Colostrum Extract, a patented formula 10-20 times stronger than regular bovine Colostrum. With this super, nutrient-dense product, it is possible to maintain a perfectly functioning and less aged body. Fortizel® may not be the "Fountain of Youth", but its ingredients certainly come from there.
